DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 18-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

The claims are directed to a judicial exception; as such, pursuant to the Interim Guidelines on Patent Eligible Subject Matter (MPEP 2106)), the claims must have either physical transformation and/or a useful, concrete and tangible result. The claims fail to include transformation from one physical state to another. Although, the claims appear useful and concrete, there does not appear to be a tangible result claimed. Merely calculating the deformation would not appear to be sufficient to constitute a tangible result, since the outcome of the calculating step has not been used in a disclosed practical application nor made available in such a manner that its usefulness in a disclosed practical application can be realized. As such, the subject matter of the claims is not patent eligible.

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-17 and 38 are allowed for reasons presented in Applicant's arguments of 8/6/06.

Response to Arguments

Art Unit: 2877

2. Applicant's arguments filed 12/13/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to Applicant's argument on page 11 that the series of steps recited are concrete and tangible, the Examiner respectfully disagrees. The OG Notice from 22 November 2005 states, "In determining whether the claim is for a "practical application," the focus is not on whether the steps taken to achieve a particular result are useful, tangible, and concrete, but rather that the final result achieved by the claimed invention is "useful, tangible, and concrete."

As discussed above, the outcome of the calculating step has not been used in a disclosed practical application (e.g. adjusting the shape of the sample) nor made available (e.g. displaying the calculated result on a computer monitor) in such a manner that its usefulness in a disclosed practical application can be realized.

The end result of the claim is a calculated value. This value is not tangible nor is the claim recited in such a manner that this value is made available.

Conclusion

3. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 2877
